

famous German counterrevolutionary of the post World War I era, the foundation has coordinated international operations for the CIA-connected Second International, including establishing the Portuguese Socialist Party.

The official GDR radio--Voice of the GDR--in news broadcasts throughout the day Nov. 28 denounced Schmidt and West German Finance Minister Apel for their collaboration with the multitis. The reports mentioned Rockefeller multitis Exxon, Mobil and IBM, but not Rocky, by name. A similar scathing attack against Schmidt and the government appeared that same day in the DKP's newspaper Unsere Zeit.

The attacks, however, lost most of their potential punch by the GDR's and DKP's failure to include in their charges the Rockefeller agents in the labor movement present at the meeting. This was no "oversight"; it reflected the DKP's consistent policy of tailing Rockefeller policy--as long as it is spouted by a "trade union leader."

Thus, the same Unsere Zeit issue which denounced the Bonn meeting carried articles praising the fascist "full employment" policy of West German Trade Union Federation Chairman and Trilateral Commission member Oskar Vetter. They published a box carrying the Trilateral Commission's line on investment policy (recycling) and "full employment," written by Vetter.

Recently, Rockefeller henchmen in Europe have been quoted as saying, "We don't consider the Communist Parties a threat." If they continue to let Trilateral Commission members like Vetter set policy for them to tail, such statements will hold true.

NCLC STRATEGY IN UAW SUIT: PROVE WOODCOCK FASCIST IN COURT

Nov. 30 (IPS)--Is Leonard Woodcock a fascist? This is the question which will be answered as the National Caucus of Labor Committees brings its countercharges against Woodcock and other United Auto Workers (UAW) officials in response to the latter's $30 million lawsuit against the NCLC and the U.S. Labor Party.

NCLC legal and intelligence staffs are now undertaking a mammoth research operation in preparation for the taking of depositions against UAW officials and their co-conspirators, and for the counterclaim which the NCLC will file against UAW officials. While the NCLC will countersue Woodcock et al. for harassment, libel and conspiracy to violate elementary civil rights, the core of the NCLC's case against Woodcock will be to bring into court a mountain of evidence which will demonstrate that Woodcock is indeed a fascist and that he is also a Nuremburg criminal under conventionally accepted definitions.

The fascist character of the programs and policies which Woodcock advocates will be demonstrated by reference to the historical meaning of fascism, including both the self-definition and expert opinion about previous fascists such as Hitler, Mussolini and British fascist Oswald Mosely. The legislative and political programs advocated by Woodcock--coparticipation and other forms of corporatism, NERA "full-employment" legislation, Project Independence "self sufficiency," etc.--will be shown to be essentially identical to the programs of earlier European fascists.

UAW Members to Join

The second major thrust of the NCLC countercharges against Woodcock and the UAW bureaucracy will be to prove that Woodcock is committing the crime of menticide (brainwashing) against members of his union. The entire Black Lake brainwashing operation and its interconnections with the Organizational Development network will be documented and detailed in court, proving that Woodcock and other UAW leaders are complicit in using medical and psychological coercion against union members. These practices have been defined as crimes against humanity under the Nuremburg principles.

Hundreds of UAW members will be involved in gathering evidence against Woodcock and other UAW national and local officials. Any union official, shop steward or foreman who is involved in harassing workers or funnelling workers into brainwashing programs can be named as a co-conspirator and co-defendant in the NCLC counterclaim. Over the next few weeks, Labor Party organizers will be collecting evidence from workers which will be used in putting together the case against Woodcock.

Woodcock's Crimes in Europe

Labor Committee sections in Western Europe will also be engaged in gathering evidence about Woodcock's international connections, including the UAW's connections with the West German Social Democratic Party, with the International Metalworkers Federation and of course his collaboration with Trilateral Commission co-conspirators. The NCLC is now evaluating the possibility of filing a simultaneous suit against Woodcock et al. in Europe, since his crimes are not impeded by national boundaries.

Court Rules in NCLC's Favor

The UAW's request for permission to take early depositions from the NCLC and the Labor Party was denied in U.S. District Court, Southern District of New York Nov. 27. The judge noted that because the NCLC had been publishing New Solidarity since 1968, there was no expectation that the NCLC would "disappear," as the UAW had stupidly suggested. Therefore, the judge ruled the UAW cannot take depositions for 30 days.
