

forces and in landings of diversionary groups of snipers. . . .

Being assured the aid of the spy services of the NATO countries for the higher-cost spy equipment — air and space — the secret services of Israel — the foreign policy intelligence of “Mosad” and the military AMAN — devote most of their attention to terrorism. Israel spares no means to do this. According to the British Daily Express, the budget of Israeli intelligence exceeds the budget of the secret services of Great Britain! The lion’s share of these allocations go to AMAN, which is an extremely far-flung apparatus.

. . . the agents of AMAN, together with the special terrorist organization “Mivtsah Elohim” (which is formally subordinate to the “Mosad,” but is under the leadership of the former head of AMAN, General Yariv) last year murdered anti-Zionist figures in Italy, France, Norway, the USA, Cyprus, and other countries. At the same time explosions and arson are carried out against the premises of progressive organizations who have opposed the Israeli occupation of Arab lands, and acts of terror against firms and companies which cooperated with progressive regimes in the Arab world.

The patronage of AMAN and “Mosad” — even including arms supplies — is especially enjoyed by all kinds of Zionist bandit gangs like the Jewish Defense League, which specialize in terrorism against Soviet representatives and citizens of the USSR in the USA and other Western countries. This is done in order to block progress in improving Soviet-American relations, poison the “spirit of Helsinki,” and further stimulate the arms race.

The raid on Entebbe, the provocations against Lebanon, the murder of hundreds of innocent people in many countries of the world and other bloody “exploits” by Zionist bandits — this is the manifestation of a unified and goal-oriented policy. This policy is being worked out and coordinated by those powerful forces in the West who are interested in igniting hotspots of international tension on the planet.

Atlanticists Order Zaire To Pay Debts, Signal Destabilization Policy for Southern Africa

by Douglas DeGroot

Aug. 7 (NSIPS) — Ten international banks led by the Rothschild family, ganged up and ordered Zaire’s central bank and finance minister on Aug. 4 to send a delegation to London within two weeks to arrange for immediate payment of the country’s defaulted debt. There is no way that bankrupt Zaire, cutoff from even transportation for its copper resources, can pay up. The bank’s order is nothing but a signal for unleashing vast private armies of the mining companies and the armed forces of the outlaw state of South Africa throughout the Southern Africa region — a move towards creating the atmosphere in which the genocidal “final solution” can be implemented!

The chaos produced by any attempt to carry out this payment demand will set the stage for the intervention by the mining companies’ private armies, in which case the already badly wobbling Zaire President Mobutu will either fall, or act as a figurehead for the debt-collecting forces. At the same time phony pressure by Kissinger on the South African regime to make concessions to the black population will serve as the pretext for it to rebel against this pressure, and activate its military forces to defend the existence of both white regimes in Africa and Atlanticist debt, thus completing the total militarization of southern Africa.

For War, Not Debt

The ten banks, representing a common front of over 40 banks, suddenly decided to demand payment at precisely this moment, although Zaire has defaulted on most of its interest and principal repayments over the last 18 months. The move by the banks follows the agreement made in June by Zaire with its major government creditors to reschedule over ten years worth of public government-to-government debt that fell due last year and this year.

But the Atlanticist banks will hear nothing of rescheduling private debt, and decided to activate this scenario just before the Sri Lanka non-aligned conference. They hope to demonstrate the ends to which the Atlanticists will go to guarantee the debt, at the point when many Third World governments are considering a unilateral debt moratorium.

The interlocking web of mining companies which stretch from Zaire to South Africa have extensive private armies, euphemistically called security forces, which can be deployed throughout the region. It is these armies in conjunction with the privately-run mercenary operations which carry out Atlanticist operations throughout Africa. The war in the former Belgian Congo in the early 60s and the anti-MPLA operations in Angola prior to and following independence are only two examples.

The government of Guinea, the victim of numerous destabilization operations at the hands of these networks, has begun exposing these operations since the latest assassination plot against Guinea President Sekou Touré last May. Guinea spokesmen have revealed that mercenaries are being trained throughout Africa “with a plan of action tailored to each of the revolutionary states in Africa,” adding that the mercenaries were trained by French and Israeli instructors not only in countries bordering Guinea, but also in Gabon and Zaire. Atlanticist President Giscard d’Estaing of France was in Gabon at the time of the bankers’ ultimatum to Zaire, and then went to Zaire for an extended private visit until August 20 with persons unknown.

The Outlaw State: South Africa

On Aug. 2 Henry Kissinger escalated his fraudulent campaign of putting pressure on the white regimes by calling for black majority rule, warning with a straight face of a possible race war that he himself is orchestrating. He said that a “volatile climate for violence exists in southern Africa,” citing the intensifying warfare in Rhodesia, and referring to the thousands of (Cuban) “foreign troops north of the Namibian border” in Angola as evidence to back up his allegations.

Almost immediately after the above statements the South African regime escalated repressive measures against the enclosed black district of Soweto, just outside of Johannesburg, triggering protest demonstrations led by youths, resulting in ten deaths so far.

The press is obediently playing up the demonstrations as having a high potential for race war, calling the situation “more explosive than ever,” and saying that “promises of talks won’t stop them now — nor will the bullets.” Atlanticist agent Premier Olaf Palme of Sweden did his part to provoke the South African crazies and feed the breakaway ally scenario by declaring that the situation could lead to race war and a superpower confrontation, and demanding a series of concessions by the racist regime calculated to heighten its frenzy.

Meanwhile there are reports that Kissinger may meet South African Premier Vorster in France on his return from Iran to coordinate the southern Africa operations. Barring the Kissinger-Vorster meeting, Kissinger aide Schaufele is reportedly to go to South Africa to accomplish the same ends.
