

The Great Satellites Hoax

This has been the week of the British-scripted "Great Satellite Hoax." The British Round Table's press and media outlets in the U.S., including the Christian Science Monitor, the Washington Post, CBS, and NBC, soon echoed by British agent-of-influence in the government led by energy czar James Schlesinger, paralyzed the malfunction of Soviet Cosmos 954 satellite into a preposterous "U-235" incident. It is a crude attempt to sabotage U.S.-USSR joint nuclear energy technology development, and space exploration, wreck the SALT talks, and make impossible potential both U.S.-Soviet entente and world industrial recovery.

This was followed by a "Big Lie" black campaign run by those same forces about alleged Soviet "killer satellites" used for similar Cold War purposes.

The timing of the Great Satellite Hoax is not accidental. Nor is the campaign predicated upon any objective U.S.-Soviet dispute. The Great Satellite Hoax is being used by the ruling British oligarchy and its agents of influence around the world as a psychological warfare instrument in behalf of their strategic policy. It is that strategic policy, and the evil forces behind it that must be defeated if there is to be any hope for peace and progress in the future.

How The British Are Wrecking U.S.-USSR Entente

The Jan. 26 Christian Science Monitor, in a centerfold feature titled "Does Britain Need a Nuclear Deterrent?", performs the service of advertising the fact that the British financiers' Round Table is now threatening to launch a unilateral first nuclear strike if it appears that the world is slipping out of London's grasp. A second Christian Science Monitor contribution, the Jan. 31 editorial "Stop the Space Arms Race," makes clear why British agents-of-influence Stansfield Turner and James R. Schlesinger, and Fabian Harold Brown, are now orchestrating the "Soviet killer satellite" and Cosmos 954 hoaxes.

Great Britain is deeply meddling in U.S.-Soviet SALT talks and other essential features of mutual "detente" policy to sabotage any U.S.-USSR high technology-based cooperation which might lead to entente. This British meddling is aimed at manipulating U.S.-USSR relations into conformity with City of London merchant bank policy for deindustrialization of the world economy, including the emergence of a new and wasteful U.S.-Soviet arms race.

British Nuclear Blackmail

"Britain must decide whether to update its ballistic submarine force, and thus remain a strategic power, or whether to rely solely on the U.S. in a threat of war with the Soviets," the headline to the Monitor's feature says, "Does Britain Need a Nuclear Deterrent?." By insanely championing what amounts to a unilateral British first-strike nuclear posture, the Christian Science Monitor has helped to emphasize the importance to world peace of Soviet strategic "Option A" — and an immediate public pronouncement by Moscow that it reserves that option to target only United Kingdom territories and satrapies in the event of a London-provoked nuclear war.

This insane nuclear blackmail threat, in line with ongoing British destabilizations and instigations of war in the Middle East and the Horn of Africa, is immediately directed against the current talks between an 11-man Soviet delegation, U.S. government officials in Washington and business leaders in Houston, Los Angeles, and Detroit. Britain has succeeded in sabotaging such hopeful lines of negotiations in the past. Although these crucial discussions have been almost totally blacked out by the Monitor, the Washington Post, and other British media mouthpieces in this country, reports from congressional sources, USSR press accounts, and the several delegations' itineraries all indicate their substance to be a sincere Soviet push to reinvigorate détente and move toward U.S.-USSR entente — SALT, reconvention of Geneva, joint exploration of space, and expanded trade and investment.

British Wrecking Operation Against SALT

Yesterday's Monitor editorial, "Stop the Space Arms Race," advertizes the British strategy to wreck the U.S.-USSR SALT talks and turn them into a vehicle for a British-induced ban on advanced technologies. Targeting the two areas of high-technology U.S.-Soviet potential collaboration — nuclear energy development, and the joint exploration of outer space — which if coupled with disarmament proposals could make the SALT talks viable as an instrument for progress and lasting peace, the British Monitor writes: "Now that attention is riveted on the Soviets' military satellites and the need to make military authorities accountable for what is going on in space, especially where nuclear materials are involved, the time would seem to be opportune to negotiate a halt to the arms race as well.
