

with Saudi Arabia and certain U.S., West German, and French industrial circles who wish to implement a massive development program to secure such a Mideast peace.

Recently, both Saudi Arabia and a member country of the United Arab Emirates banned Freemasonry as a Zionist front.

The case of the exiled leader of Iran's Shi'ite community is elucidating. Ayatollah Khomeiny, who now resides in Iraq, is a direct descendant of the reactionary Shi'ite reformer of the 19th century, al-Afghani, a British intelligence operative who was secretly not a Shi'ite but a member of a London-based Bahai-Masonic lodge organized by Sir Richard Burton and Wilfred Blunt of the secret service. It was this "religious" leader and his reformist movement which overthrew the Qajar Dynasty in Iran in the so-called 1905 revolution, through the manipulation of the reactionary Shi'ite population. Iran was then partitioned into three parts.

It is such an operation that British intelligence, centered in a key Scotland Yard department and related Israeli intelligence circles, are using to derail Iran from the pro-industrial, pro-Arab policies which the Shah recently has espoused.

4. China's Anti-Soviet Front In The Gulf

Peking dispatched Chinese Foreign Minister Huang Hua on a series of visits to Mideast capitals over the last week to mobilize an anti-Soviet front in the Gulf region, extending into Turkey. Hua brought with him offers to increase the Chinese presence in the area and at the same time, he urged closer links of the Gulf states with NATO to challenge the mythical threat of Soviet expansionism.

After his warmongering visits to Zaire and Brussels, Huang Hua visited Turkey, Iran, and Kuwait, in a tour approvingly described by the London Times as a "Chinese anti-Soviet offensive." In Iran, he put out the hysterical line that the Third World and especially the Gulf states must join forces with China and NATO against the Soviets. In an interview with the Iranian paper Kayhan, Hua raved that "the world should realize the common enemy (the Soviet Union) and prepare themselves to stand against it."

Hua on Soviet Imperialism

"It is the Soviet Union which wishes to conquer the whole world (which) is now facing its severest threat to peace," said Hua, claiming that the Soviet Union is expanding its arms factories in preparation for war. Hua called upon the Third World, including China, "to unite with the Western countries to face the aggression of the Soviet Union." The U.S., Hua pointed out, "is an imperialist country and a superpower . . . but at the moment the United States is in a defensive position while the Soviet Union is in an aggressive position, and therefore at this stage the attention of the Third World must be drawn to the domineering attitude of the Soviet Union" evident in their operations over Africa.

Hua's four-day visit to Turkey came only one week prior to Turkish Prime Minister Ecevit's first official trip to Moscow, June 21, to sign a "political document" of friendship and cooperation with the Soviet leadership. Upon his arrival in Ankara, Hua unsuccessfully tried to sell the Turks his violent anti-Soviet line and scare them off from their present moves towards political and economic rapprochement with the Soviets. While in Turkey, Hua publicly attacked the Soviets for their "aggressive, expansionist and subversive activities in the Middle East, Africa and other areas in order to encircle Western Europe" and raved that both Turkey and China "had the common duty" of resisting the Soviet threat by establishing close political and military relations. He also offered to the Turkish government Chinese military equipment to make up for the U.S.-imposed embargo against Turkey. Turkish Foreign Minister Okcun responded to Hua's hysterics by stressing that "realism and mutual trust should dominate international relations."

Hua is expected to push a similar anti-Soviet position in the British-dominated Kuwait.

Saddam Hussein Must Stop Israeli Agent Khomeiny

A U.S. Labor Party Memorandum to the Arab Baath Socialist Party

Below is a shortened version of a memorandum issued June 20 by Criton Zoakos, Director of Intelligence of the U.S. Labor Party. The full memorandum, including discussion of why "the political considerations involved in prosecuting a Shi'ite religious leader in predominantly Shi'ite Iraq...should not be allowed to acquire an anti-religious coloring," due to British manipulation of the Shi'ite faith which Zoakos documents back into the 19th century, was printed in New Solidarity on June 23, 1978.

It is in the vital interests of the Arab nations, including the interests of the present Iraqi and Saudi Arabian governments, to put a swift end to the present ongoing destabilization operation conducted by the Israeli government against the Shah of Iran. Ironically, Assistant Secretary General of the Baath Party, Mr. Saddam Hussein, is presently better situated to strengthen the position of the Shah of Iran against Israeli intelligence (Mossad) operations than the Shah himself.

The Iraqi leadership must bring to trial and silence the Iranian Shi'ite leader Ayatollah Khomeiny, who is conducting his anti-Shah operations out of Iraq, on the grounds that Khomeiny is an agent of Israeli intelligence.

The Iraqi authorities would be aided in their task by a fresh reconsideration of the following set of well-known facts: first, the strategic objectives behind the drive to destabilize the Shah and, second, the undercover networks involved in this intelligence war. Unless the following points are taken seriously, an overt anti-Arab, anti-Palestine, Israel-Iran axis will emerge under the thin cover of "anticommunism."

First, the strategic objective of the attacks against the Shah by the Shi'ite clergy, the so-called Tudeh (Communist) Party, the Bahai sect, and the Mossad-connected networks inside SAVAK, the Iranian secret service, is aimed at upsetting the power arrangement which brought the Shah to power in the 1950s. As is known, that arrangement was primarily based on the understanding that the rival pro-American and pro-British forces in the Iranian elite would share power on a 50-50 basis.

Thus, the pro-American Shah Reza Pahlevi, far from being the all-powerful autocrat that he is presented to be in the Western press, is in fact prisoner of a financial-landowning oligarchy, historically London-oriented. These oligarchs, mostly associated with the Bahai quasi-religious sect, have been the main force behind the systematic sabotage of the Shah's various industrial development and modernization efforts. Moreover, it is their tyranny over the economic and political life of the country for which the Shah, impotent in the face of his compromised association with them from 1954 on, takes the blame.

The present anti-Shah pressures are designed to upset the 50-50 arrangement and to give overall policy control to the forces associated with Israeli intelligence and the Winston Churchill III-Margaret Thatcher wing of the Tory party in England. The policy that these forces want to impose on Iran runs simultaneously on at least the following levels: first, create a firm anti-Arab, Israel-Iran axis; second, remilitarize CENTO under Iranian hegemony which, though anti-Soviet in language, will be aiming at creating Arab-Persian conflicts in the Gulf, assassinating former Pakistani Prime Minister Bhutto, destabilizing India and introducing, with the help of forces allied with Gen. Zia in Pakistan, Chinese forces in the general Near East area; third, foment a conflict between Iran and Saudi Arabia over oil policy and thus bust up OPEC.

Israeli intelligence is participating in these operations intensively for the obvious reason that, if these operations meet with success, the immediate result will be that West German, French, and American industrial interests which, along with Soviet forces, have a common interest in rapidly industrializing the Arab Middle East and in upholding the rights of the Palestinian people, will be squeezed out of the area and replaced by a combined British Tory-Chinese presence. Such an eventuality, quite apart from its deadly consequences to world peace, would put an end to the Arab nations' aspirations for modernization and industrialization.

That is why it is in the vital interests of the Baathists to provide flanking support to the Shah of Iran against the Israeli-directed destabilizations at this time.

Profile of Ayatollah Khomeiny

On the issue of Ayatollah Khomeiny: no illusions can be entertained at this point on certain painful tasks that remain to be performed to rectify certain unsavory British operations that have been carried out against the Islamic faith, during the past two-and-a-half centuries.

In point of fact, the reputed Shi'ite Imam, Ayatollah Khomeiny is a phony. We have in our hands accumulated evidence pointing to the possibility of his being controlled by London's Scottish Rites Masonic lodges, through various control points in Haifa, Tel Aviv, Teheran, Qum, and elsewhere. The task of producing the hot, "dead body" evidence still remains the job of the Iraqi law enforcement authorities. The area of investigation, however, remains clearly circumscribed:

Item One: Since last fall Ayatollah Khomeiny, the Shi'ite Imam has been continuously fomenting riots against the Shah. Despite the Shah's repeated efforts at reconciliation, Khomeiny is assuming a more and more provocative posture. It can be proven that each time Khomeiny increases the pressure, a number of other simultaneous operations are launched against the Shah. These operations bear all the features of coordination.

Item Two: The network of intelligence specialists involved in these operations includes the Bahai sect networks in numerous Iranian cities, including Teheran and including the Shah's Court, the Bahai networks in Haifa and Tel Aviv, and their associates in London through the Scottish Rites Masonic networks and, possibly, a certain department of Scotland Yard. It also probably includes Israeli intelligence abroad and such joint Mossad-British intelligence "cutouts" as Robert Swann of the European-Arab Dialogue and Robert Moss of the Daily Telegraph. It also includes former CIA circles associated with James Jesus Angleton, former Middle East desk chief for the CIA who, in concert with Israeli and British intelligence, has been acting as a traitor to United States interests.

Item Three: There is evidence to indicate that the intellectual authors of this operation are associated with certain Masonic networks among the Second International friends of the Israeli Labor Party around the so-called "Paul-Henri Spaak" circle of NATO. Through the "Moral Rearmament" crusade, the Red Cross, and associated personnel, this group is presently studying and developing numerous destabilization scenarios for Africa and the Middle East, based on "ethnic, religious, and tribal conflicts."

A key gamemaster in this network of controllers is the notorious "Arabist" Bernard Lewis of Princeton University, one of the most prominent members of the "Israel lobby" in the United States, which has been mobilized to undermine American Middle East policy since President Carter's decision to sell arms to Arab nations.

Item Four: Since the 1975 treaty accords between Iran and Iraq, Iraq has been extremely vulnerable to intelligence penetration under the guise of "religious pilgrimage" of Shi'ites and Bahais to the city of Najaf, thus providing easy and uncontrollable avenues of access between Khomeiny and Israeli intelligence.
