

ign Relations) and Viron Vaky (Kissinger's NSC expert on Latin America). The list of Mondale's advisers is a who's who of David Rockefeller's Trilateral Commission, the supranational policy-planning agency founded to capture the Presidency in 1976 for the Council of Foreign Relations Project 1980s of Kirkland, Kissinger, Volcker, et al. David Rockefeller is Henry Kissinger's traveling checkbook. Under Republican President Ford, Kirkland served on the notorious Presidential Commission on CIA Activities within the United States, headed by Nelson A. Rockefeller. The Trilateral Commission is otherwise known as the "Carter White House." It took 18 Trilaterals to run the Carter administration including Walter Mondale, Jimmy Carter, Zbigniew Brzezinski, Cyrus Vance, Paul Volcker, and Harold Brown. Lane Kirkland was on Jimmy Carter's Citizens' Advisory Panel that helped select the personnel in the administration.

Of the 35 names on Mondale's advisers list, 23 were members of the Trilateral Commission/Carter administration, not including Walter F. Mondale himself. It is no accident that Mondale advisor Robert Pastor was writing strategy papers for the Soviet-backed butchers President Reagan had to send in the Marines to clean out of Grenada! It is no accident that Mondale/Carter aides Peter and Geoffrey Bourne along with Pastor gave "advice" to Americans on Grenada that could have resulted in another Iran-style hostage crisis.

Mondale's secret adviser

Walter Mondale's unnamed "secret" adviser is Fyodor Burlatskii, a "journalist" for the KGB. Burlatskii was one of two top Russian intelligence agents who attended a joint Soviet-American conference which took place in Minneapolis, Minnesota—Walter Mondale's home state and political base—beginning on May 24, 1983. The conference was organized with the backing of Lane Kirkland's AFL-CIO and Minneapolis Mayor Donald Fraser. The Russian operatives ordered opposition to the development of defensive energy beam weapon systems, which Burlatskii later defined as a casus belli.

Immediately following the Minneapolis event, the Russian participants fanned out to more than 30 U.S. cities to organize conferences for their objectives, working with the Kirkland-Mondale political machine to build mass support for a U.S. surrender to the Soviet Union in the guise of the Nuclear Freeze movement. With the American population increasingly determined to defend the national interest, the question now is perhaps not whether, but how fast, the mounting Mondale scandals will bring down Lane Kirkland.

Walter Mondale made Jonestown possible

Five years ago last month, 913 men, women, and children—many of them impoverished blacks—died agonizing deaths in the jungle of Guyana after being induced by cult leader Jim Jones to swallow cyanide-laced Koolaid.

One of the principal individuals responsible for the establishment of the death colony at Jonestown, and the murders of nearly 1,000 people, including Rep. Leo J. Ryan, was Walter Mondale.

According to absolutely reliable information, in late 1976 or early 1977 Mondale interceded at least twice with the Guyanese government to gain its permission for Jones to relocate his People's Temple from California to Guyana. It is a matter of public record that Mondale wrote a letter of reference for Jones stating: "Knowing your congregation's deep involvement in the major social and constitutional issues of our country is a great inspiration to me."

According to new information made available to EIR, the Vice-President met with Guyanese embassy officials in Washington to plead Jones's case in person. Accompanying him were Rosalynn Carter, wife of the President, and Mervyn Dymally, Jerry Brown's lieutenant governor and presently a U.S. congressman.

There had been extensive contacts between Jones and the Carter-Mondale apparatus during the 1976 campaign, when the People's Temple played a key role in turning out the San Francisco vote for the Democratic presidential ticket. During the campaign, Mondale had appeared at a People's Temple event and entertained Jones on his campaign jet, while Mrs. Carter dined privately with the cult leader at her hotel suite in San Francisco.

Based on Mondale's intercession with Guyanese officials, and on praise-filled testimonials from other leading lights of the Carter administration, including HEW Secretary Joseph Califano, the Guyanese government allowed Jones to set up his slave-labor plantation at Jonestown. Not long after the move, regular contacts were established between Jonestown and the KGB station chief in Guyana.

In the aftermath of the mass suicides, Mondale and others in the administration claimed that they had no idea that Jones was a fiend. Yet by the time Mondale became publicly involved with Jones, it had already been established that the cult leader was regularly using hideous forms of psychological and physical torture to keep his followers under his sway. Defectors from the People's Temple had filed numerous affidavits attesting to the beatings, sexual molestation of children and adults, starvation, and psychological manipulation that Jones practiced as a matter of course. Moreover, Jones had started talking about "revolutionary suicide" as early as 1972, and held numerous suicide drills before the move to Guyana.
